CONFERENCE 21-22.11 EXHIBITION 19-24.11 WORKSHOPS | 21-22.11

RELOGIA | Trialogues 2019 is the first major international training forum in Bulgaria, bringing together 33 world pioneers in the field of new education, research, business and culture forms in the context of the worldwide STE(A)M or art+sci+tech trends - leading researchers, mentors and artists in Europe and the world. Lecturers, including Dr. Dorian Kolundzhija, who works on the Museum of Future project, which opens next year in Dubai, Dr. Michael Katarakis, Director of the Best Research & Innovation Center in Greece, Prof Kelly Snook Astrophysicist at NASA with her international project Concordia reviving Kepler's research methodology, Prof Heidrun Stoeger with Global Talen Mentoring Program, Prof Jill Scott – with over 150 PhD supervisions on Art&Science research, Martine Reiherts – Former Director General of EU for Education and Culture who gave the name of RELOGIA's first edition Human Dimension and all the rest of beautiful minds will be greeted by Dr Fabiola Gianotti – Director General of CERN. The exceptional selection of RELOGIA guests will make a unique cross-disciplinary training for innovators, teachers, students and people from different professions who are interested in new research, education and experimental forms integrating art, science and technology.

The first edition of this unique European event will be organized in three modules: conference, exhibition and workshops, where experts will present their achievements in Art + Science + Technology synergy, with examples of their application and future development of education, research and culture. So far, more than 50 foreign representatives from Italy, England, Finland, Serbia, Germany, India and the Netherlands, as well as Bulgarian national innovative and progressive schools and organizations in science, arts and technology, have registered for this international training.
